A Peculiar Fire.

When O. G. Cooper and family went to bed Friday night at their home a quarter of a mile west of Pawnee Rock everything about the place seemed to be all right. When they got up in the morning things seemed changed somewhat but it was several minutes before they realized just what was the matter. Then they discovered that during the night the barn had burned. It was an old barn and the loss was not so much on it but seven head of horses and mules were burned and with them some buggies, harness and other paraphernalia and 1,000 bushels of wheat.

They were not disturbed during the night by the fire nor did any of the people of Pawnee Rock or the neighbors elsewhere hear anything about it.

The barn is an old one owned by nieces of Mr. Cooper the Misses Wilson, of Iola, formerly of Pawnee Rock. They also own the farm.

Mr. Cooper went to Kansas City Saturday morning.

F. V. Russell is the owner of a new Overland auto.

Willis Bolinger, C. S. Allison, and Wm. Osmond were in Hodgeman county Tuesday on business.

KRAUSE'S

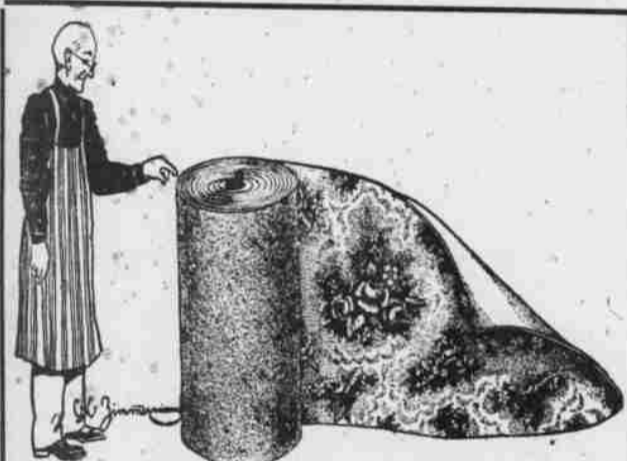

WE WERE JUST SENDING in a draft the other day to pay for the insuring of all the deposits against loss of any kind, for the year 1911 in our bank, when a customer stepped up and said "that is right" "I am doing all of my business with you, which amounts to a great deal. Simply because you insure the money I put in your bank against loss." "Now," said he, "I don't question the honesty of any bank officer, and the ability of the bank to pay me any amount on demand in good times." "But," said he, "I have been through the mill once, and it came nigh grinding the life out of me. It left me a grey headed, old looking man, when I am young in years. It came nigh taking the life and vim out of me forever. Yet the bank that I did business with, as rated the best in the city, safest and soundest, with large Capital and surplus; with the Stockholders rated worth millions of dollars But when the panic came, the reckless manner in which the bank did its business, in overloaning, loaning to worthless people, and institutions, speculating with the depositors money, in everything good, bad and indifferent, sent it to the wall. they could not even raise the money on their notes and securities, when settling up the affairs of the bank. The depositors were the losers. After all assessments had been made on every stockholder, it was found that the richest and best stockholders had only One Hundred to Five Hundred Dollars of stock in the bank, and a stockholder was only liable for double the amount of his stock. So I came to the conclusion, since that failure and loss I would do as little banking as possible until I found a conservative bank, who secured the money I put in their bank, against loss of any kind. The same as they secure all money, they get from the United States, State, County and School funds. The same as they require a depositor to secure money they borrow of the bank."

We not only insure all depositors money against loss, but insure all moneys kept in the bank against loss by day day hold ups or night robbers. We have a burglar proof, fire proof vault, under the Electric Burglar alarm System. A vault that has never been broken into by any class of burglars. All of the banks that have been robbed, never had one of these vaults.

We have Safety Deposit Boxes in our Burglar Proof, Fire Proof Vault for the use of our customers, for their valuable papers, such as deeds, mortgages, wills, etc. We have everything that makes a bank the latest, the best and the safest. Modestly speaking, we have a set of active officers, conducting the business, that everybody likes.

If you are not doing business with us just try us and we know you and your family would stick to us, for we would make it a home for you that you would always be satisfied with and pleased. See us.

The Old Cabinet Maker Says:

That an absolutely necessity to make a home cheerful, homelike and comfortable is good floor covering. Our line of carpets, rugs, oil cloth and linoleum are the product of looms and mills that produce only goods of dependable quality. We know where such goods can be secured and we have no other. A good carpet when it be ingrain, brussels, axminster or wilton if it be of the right quality is cheap because in floor coverings quality spells economy.
